Former Local Man Involved
In Theft Case

Corry, March 21—Albert Magliarditi, also known as Al Marty, proprietor of a Corry cafe, was arrested late Monday and charged with robbery of $1,165 from Ted Dey, former Warren man, proprietor of Corry's Boston House. Both are reputed Corry gamblers.

Dey complained to Corry police that at 4:30 a. m. Monday Marty pinned him to the floor during a fight in the Brewer's rooms on West Main street, and removed the money from his pocket.

The Boston House proprietor told police that he was about $800 ahead in a crap game which had been in progress for some time when he got into the fight with Marty.

The latter claimed Dey owed him a sum of money and that he was merely taking what belonged to him.

Arraigned before Alderman William Gordon in Corry on a charge of forcible robbery from the person, Marty pleaded not guilty. Judge Elmer L. Evans later set his bail at $2,000 and he was released to await hearing.

Local Sites For Veterans'
Hospital Described in Brief

shown and substantiated by facts and figures.

In setting forth the various sites, of which there are ten, maps of the county are shown, airplane views of the city and vicinity and topographical maps showing various geographical features of the terrain in this vicinity. Also included is a map showing Warren's location midway between Aspinwall and Batavia where veterans' hospitals are located. This map also shows in circles the population of the section with a 25, 50 and 100 mile radius. Within 100 miles of Warren six and one-half million people make their homes. Various highway studies are also shown together with railroad and bus connections. This feature is most enlightening and well done.

All of the sites suggested are also mapped and a sheet descriptive of each is included. Acreage, height above sea level, proximity of sewage facilities, light, water and gas facilities are also shown and the studies are most comprehensive.

There are ten sites given attention. One of these lies within the limits of the Borough of Warren and is owned by W. W. Beatty, which comprises 7.2 acres. It is located on the East Side near Verbeck street and is gently sloping and highly attractive if it is not desired to have more land for a hospital site. Site No. 2 comprises the old Fairgrounds, adjoining the borough line on the north. It is owned by the Warren Bank and Trust Company and contains 74 acres of which 32 are cleared and 35 are woodlands. Site No. 3 is owned by L. K. Krespan and was formerly occupied by the Harold Wood greenhouses and nursery. It has a total of 30 acres. Site No. 4 is the old Academy land west of Warren and it contains 430 acres, and would be admirably suited. Site No. 5 is located about 500 feet south of the Borough line and is owned by Margaret Newbold, of Irvine, Pa. It contains 90 acres and has a sand and loam surface and is close to sewage, gas and light facilities. Site No. 6 is owned by P. R. Benson, of Warren, and Charles Yeagle, Clarendon, R. D., and is located in Pleasant township. It has a large rolling area. Located on high ground it affords a wonderful view of the river valley for many miles.

Site No. 7 is five miles northeast from the center of the city and is owned by Hugh Jamieson. It has a total of 454 acres. Beautifully situated it is not near to any sewage or gas facilities. Site No. 8 is along the Conewago Creek nine miles from Warren. This is a fine piece of land of a large area and is owned by Dr. C. J. Frantz, of Warren; Harry Randall, Harold Hale and Victor Lundmark, of Akeley. On the Frantz property is located a huge spring with a heavy year round flow and on ground high enough which would carry the water by gravity to the third floor of a building.

Site No. 9 is on the South Side of the Allegheny river at Irvine and is owned by Margaret Newbold. It contains 600 acres and has a large percentage of cleared land with a fine sandy river loam. It has gas and electric conveniences and is a wonderful site for beauty and recreation facilities. Site No. 10 comprises lands owned by Charles R. Moore at Gatland. This is a fine piece of property with 2000 acres of land, mostly fine farm land. The Moore farm is known widely for being one of the best farms in the county and the soil is of river bottom loam. It is on both the Pennsylvania and New York Central roads and on lines of the Greyhound Bus Company.

Most of the letters are arranged in cellophane which makes them easy to read and easy to handle. Also included in the brief is a booklet published some years ago by the Warren Chamber of Commerce and also a brochure put out by the Roosevelt Highway Association.

Messrs. Kinnear, Fenstermacher and Rogers in preparing this brief have accomplished much and those who have seen the publication feel that this compilation is the most outstanding thing of the kind ever prepared here.

Warren Autobody Repair Co. Will Add 50% To Its Building

With the WPB giving the green light construction work will be started by Farnsworth and Cook within a few days on the construction of an addition to the Autobody Repair plant. The addition will enlarge the plant to twice its present size and will afford much needed room to care for the ever increasing amount of work handled. The announcement comes simultaneously with the 15th anniversary of the opening of the business here by George Horsfield.

The addition will be built of cinder block which will be covered with stucco to conform in appearance with the plant occupied at present. Concrete floors will be laid and the plant made as near fire proof as it is possible to make it. Every effort will be made to get the building completed as soon as possible as the WPB recognizes the essential need of plants to keep transportation at as near a peak as possible.

Mr. Horsfield plans for the installation of some of the most modern machinery in the new addition that it is possible to purchase. Most of this machinery has been ordered and is ready for delivery as soon as the new structure is completed to receive it. One of the outstanding pieces of machinery to be put in place will be a Bee Line Super Model chassis aligner which will take care of the largest piece of motor equipment that is legal in Pennsylvania. Busses, trailer trucks, and passenger cars will all be given attention on this machine.

Forty-four feet in length it will be erected with a pit under its entire length so that workmen may stand and work under the machines. A huge complement of tools accompanies the machine which will be used for checking trailers front and rear end inspections, rear housing corrections, frame inspections, etc. Alignment of frames etc., will be done with the machine and it will generate tons of pressure in the straightening necessary. One hundred tons pressure can be exerted. On another smaller but similar machine now in the plant 40 tons pressure is given.

Another machine that is now in position and in use as often as possible is a modern wheel straightener which now allows wheels to be salvaged that in many instances were thrown away. Hubs and drums of the wheels can all be cared for in an economical manner. Another machine will balance the wheels and motorists who keep wheels balanced and aligned will find their tire worries are largely over.

Mr. Horsfield by straightforward methods has built up a large clientele and his plant is not to be equalled in any town of this section for equipment and work turned out. Constantly adding new machinery and keeping abreast with the times has allowed him to mark his 15th anniversary in Warren with a reputation for good work which affords a keen outlook for the future.

Recent studies made by government health authorities reveal that the microbes which transmit human disease indoors are most numerous near floors . . . proving the need for effective sanitation. The simple, efficient way to make floors sanitary is to use Clorox in routine cleansing.

Cars In Crash At Intersection Last Evening

Failure to observe a "Stop" sign at the intersection of Third avenue and East street last night damaged three cars and resulted in slight injury of Mrs. A. J. Washburg, of North Warren. The crash took place when a car driven by John Bohren, U. S. N., of 129 Highland avenue, Youngsville ran through the "Stop" sign at East street and slammed into a car driven by A. J. Washburg, 23 Park street, North Warren. The impact caused the Washburg car to crash caused the Washburg car to crash blade, 1906 Pennsylvania avenue, east. All three cars sustained some damage.

Police were called and their investigation showed that Bohren was going north on East street and Washburg was driving west on Third avenue. The Sandblade car was parked about 60 feet from the intersection on the north side of Third avenue.

Mrs. Washburg was taken to the office of a physician and given treatment for a cut on her nose. She also suffered considerably from shock.

Bogren was operating a car owned by John E. Weaver, 105 Poplar street, Youngsville. Weaver carried insurance as did Washburg.

Arrests will follow if damages are not taken care of soon.

Men and Women In the Service

Further News Is Learned Of Pvt. Sullivan

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, 906 Pennsylvania avenue, west, have received several communications concerning their son, Pvt. Joseph Sullivan, who died December 17 of wounds received in the Philippines. They have received the Purple Heart awarded for those wounds and have a personal letter of sympathy from General Douglas MacArthur.

This message states: "My deepest sympathy goes to you in the death of your son, Private Joseph J. Sullivan. His service to his country was characteristic by his devotion to his duty, and in his death we have lost a gallant comrade-at-arms. Very faithfully, (Signed) Douglas MacArthur."

Capt. John D. Sharp, Jr., commanding the 307th Infantry, has written them twice recently, his last communication revealing that Pvt. "Jiggs" was buried in a U. S. Army cemetery near Valencia, Island of Leyte, in the Philippines. "A beautiful spot, excellently cared for, where further burial services were conducted."

In his previous letter to the Sullivans, Capt. Sharp wrote: "Your son, Joseph, died December 17, 1944, of wounds received in action on the Island of Leyte, P. I."

"Joseph had been a member of this company since August, 1943. Since that time he had become a great favorite because of his willingness, ability, and courage. His handling of his weapon and calm, cool efficiency was superior."

"He was a leading scout in the action that cost him his life. In this engagement he drove around the enemy's flank, killed several of the enemy, routed a machine gun nest, and was assisting in knocking out another when mortally wounded. He truly added glory to the already popular name of Sullivan."

"At all times he lived a good Christian life and no matter how tired or busy, he always managed to attend church regularly. That fact is, we feel sure, a great comfort to you at this time. We realize your great loss and share it with you."

"Honest, courteous, courageous, all of this and more is inadequate to describe your son. A good Christian, a true friend, an excellent soldier—Joseph J. Sullivan will long stand out in our minds as the characterization of the best of the American soldier who is more than willing to give his all for his country and his fellow men. "We are proud to have suffered with your son."

Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific area, has written a most interesting letter to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson, of Ludlow, concerning their son, Lt. Ward W. Anderson, who is a brother of Mrs. Harry Eckman, West street, this city. The letter follows:

"Recently your son, First Lt. Ward W. Anderson, was decorated with the Air Medal. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you."

"He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the S. W. Pacific area from June 7, 1944, to September 9, 1944."

"Your son took part in sustained operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These flights included bombing missions against many installations, shipping and supply bases, and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre."

"Almost every hour of every day your son, and the sons of other American mothers, are doing just such things as that here in the S. W. Pacific."

"There is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and peace."

"I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your son in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against the aggressor nations."

"You have every reason to share that pride and gratification."

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Maud refused to live in the house any longer and announced that she would move to the garden house. She objected to the furtive manner in which Cynthia had gotten married. The next day, when Cynthia went to the office she was agitated at the bills the children had run up during the summer, especially Vera.

Chapter 9

THE children had always been allowed to have what they wanted but their wants had been simple enough. She hadn't time to shop for them, but now the bills were staggering. Then her mood softened. Perhaps Vera was just growing up. She thought of birthdays, a little hazy for a moment. Vera would be eighteen, nineteen on her next, in January. Nineteen. It was a chilling thought. After nineteen comes twenty and a girl is a woman.

She wrote checks for every one of the extravagant demands. The house bills alone were doubled, as if everyone had gone on a spending spree. But she would not complain even to herself. Miss Lee announced discreetly, "Mr. Almon."

Ned was haggard under his smooth, well fed and shaven facade. He had the look of a person who has just fallen down stairs and is gazing back at the object that trapped him.

Cynthia called his name putting out her hands for it was very evident that he was suffering, whether from frustrated love or the natural humiliation of the loser. She was ashamed all over again for her hard-to-explain silence.

"I telephoned to the house this morning," he said heavily. "Maud told me."

The silence was awkward while Cynthia imagined Maud as commentator. There it was again. She should have called Ned at once—last night—but she hadn't even thought of him.

"It was very sudden," she said meekly. "There wasn't much time to think about—other people. I hope you'll forgive me, Ned."

nal because this was Ned, her friend.

He managed a sort of smile. "So I'm 'other people'? But there's no question of forgiveness, Cynthia. Nothing has changed so far as you and I are concerned. It could never change." If he expected her face to light up at that he was disappointed. She merely looked troubled. Then he glanced around the room as if he expected to see someone behind the window blinds. "Where is—I'm afraid I didn't quite get the name when Maud told me. I was rather bowled over, you know."

Cynthia told him with her chin up. They wouldn't get far, ignoring Carey like this. Belittling him. At the same time she realized that she hadn't thought of him for an hour, as she came into her office she had slipped him off with her coat and hat. But now she explained proudly that her husband was at the plant in Burbank. "He is an engineer," she said and gave the word all she had.

"So you didn't marry a small business man," Ned said not meaning to be sarcastic but sounding like it. "An engineer! The rest of us must seem tame in comparison."

She wanted to say "Don't be like this," but it wouldn't have been wise. With a strong sense of loss she knew irrevocably that nothing could be as it had been for her and Ned. The old relationship was gone and could never be revived. There wouldn't be time for it, nor would she have wanted it otherwise. The picture of herself with Ned and the one with Carey were too divergent and it was with Carey that she belonged and wanted to be.

Ned brought it up again as he was leaving, clumsily saying the wrong thing. "If you ever need me, Cynthia, I'll be there, just like always."

"You're an old dear," she said vaguely.

She wanted Ned to go so that he could telephone to Carey. It became necessary all at once that she should hear his voice to reassure herself that this was reality. But she hadn't the remotest idea of how to locate him in the maelstrom of an enormous airplane factory, impossible to project her petty demand, "May I speak to Mr. Winslow?" into the important routine of that human hive. She felt insignificant for nearly the first time in her life for here she didn't count and her business card was a scrap of paper.

CAREY was at home when she returned and not pleased at her absence.

"Where on earth have you been?" he demanded after a swift, possessive kiss. "The office? But you didn't have to go down there in all this heat. You could have telephoned."

Cynthia opened her mouth and closed it again. It worried her even to remember the thousand and one details she had looked after in her swift transit with Miss Lee.

"Well!" He gave her a little shake.

"I could have but I didn't." She collapsed helplessly against him. That was the way he loved her to be. "Darling, it's wonderful to see you again. Let's not have these long separations."

"We won't." He was unexpectedly emphatic. "You'll have to quit this office business, Cynthia. I won't have you prowling around in all sorts of places when you ought to be here."

She pushed him off with the flat of her hands, looking into his face to see if she had heard aright. "You're joking, Carey . . ." How queer that they had never talked of this before. Then she remembered that there had been such talk but it must have been over a misunderstanding, seeing it from different angles, each thinking that the other wouldn't interfere. Now she knew with sure insight that he had taken her abdication for granted. He hadn't the faintest notion of what it meant.

"I can't give up my business, Carey," she said gravely. "It's part of me. I saved it. Built it up. It's my children's inheritance—not real wealth but something that'll see them through until they can stand on their own feet. There's an income and we can use it all. We do use nearly all of it. I couldn't stop if I wanted to."

Home and mother . . . flowering crocuses . . . real girls instead of pin-ups . . . a day in the park with his One-and-Only . . . fishing with the old brother—or maybe his own youngster—all the traditional things of spring are something for G. I. Joe to dream about now. But the dream will make him fight the harder to return to the homely things of another springtime.

THE EIFEL REGION

German fighting divisions pinned between the American First and Third Armies west of the Rhine find themselves trapped in the forested Eifel Hills, a long established vacation region of the Rhineland.

Few of the Eifel region's hills rise more than 2,000 feet, says the National Geographic Society, but they form a very rugged plateau over most of a big trapezoid with corners at Aachen, Trier, Koblenz, and Bonn.

Northern limit of the hills is represented by a road winding eastward from Aachen through Eschweiler, Duren, Zulpich and Euskirchen to the Rhine at the University city of Bonn, 15 miles upstream (southeast) from Cologne. North of this line are the rolling hills of the so-called Cologne plain. South of it, the confused Nazi units seeking an escape across the Rhine will find it difficult to make haste.

Ruins of castles and monasteries as well as resort buildings cap many of the Eifel hilltops. Villages dating back to Roman times nestle in deep valleys. Only in very recent years has the isolation of centuries been lessened by extending the limited road system. At the south, the steep slopes are clad with the vineyards that produce the grapes of famous Mosel wine.

A railroad runs along the Rhine's west bank all the way from Cologne to Koblenz—a distance of about 50 miles. A newly built four-lane military superhighway runs north from Bonn to Bruhl and Rondorf, turning east across the Rhine just south of Cologne.

TIRE OUTLOOK BAD

One of the Home Front developments the past few days was the announcement from Washington that OPA has slashed the April passenger tire quotas 37 per cent below this month's level.

That means that but few family cars may expect to have a new tire.

Too much rubber was burned up on the dry pavements of Warren and vicinity the past week, and it is doubtful if this grave news will slow down some of the wild drivers who insist upon racing over the highways despite rubber shortages and wartime speed restrictions.

A temporary War Production Board limit of five million tires quarterly, has been extended indefinitely. That's 600,000 below quarterly production last year, more than 12 million below prewar.

With more than two million American-made vehicles rolling overseas where shell fragments, rubble, bullets make short work of tires, military demands are increasing. An eighth of an inch of rubber burns off airplane tires every landing. Result—only 175 landings says WPB.

Sister agency OPA warns that unless families have tires recapped before casings are ruined, there won't be enough to maintain essential driving.

THE NEW COMMANDMENT
The heart of the Gospel is that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son." Calvary's cross tells more graphically than words the full meaning of that love.
Time and again Jesus expressed and revealed His love for mankind. In the closing hours of His earthly life He uttered this message to His followers: "A new commandment I give unto you. That ye love one another"—John 13:34. This was Christ's parting message. He wanted them to forever remember that all of the commandments were summed up in that great one of love and obedience. Not love of self, but love of others, as Jesus has loved us.
In order to discover the genuineness of love, it must be tested. The test God gives is practical and simple. He does not make "emotional consciousness" the test of love, but on the contrary says we are to love in deed. The real test of love is not the glow of love in our hearts, but the deeds of love in our lives. "He that keepeth my commandments, he it is that loveth me," Jesus said. To Peter and to us He says, "Do you love me? Then do something about it. Feed my sheep. Prove it in your life, in your acts."
But the climax of love is in what it will suffer. Just what expressed the love of Jesus Christ most perfectly? Is it His words as a teacher or His deeds of love and mercy? His tender compassion which brought tears to His eyes? No, it is not in these. The highest and deepest love of Jesus was expressed in dark Gethsemane, in the hall of torturous scourging, and on the cross where He suffered unto death. The picture of what He suffered for us. Thus, the greatest proof of love is in suffering.
If you would build not for time, but for eternity, then build in love, upon the foundation of Christ Jesus, which will stand the test of God's great day.

But now bring me a minstrel. And it came to pass, when the minstrel played, that the hand of the Lord came upon him.—II Kings 3:15.
Music religious heat inspires,
It wakes the soul, and lifts it high,
And wings it with sublime desires,
And fits it to bespeak the Deity.

Youngsville Volunteer Fire Company was called out to the Indian Camp Run road late Sunday afternoon. The call came from Archie Peterson's but the fire was on the land of Otto Peterson, catching from a rubbish fire near the house, known as the Andy Bufum place, which house was threatened by the fire when the call was made but later the wind changed blowing the fire away from the house and spreading into grass and brush on the Otto Peterson land. The fire was so extended when the company arrived that both the booster truck and hand truck were used and the men also scattered and beat out the fire with brooms and anything else they could find with which to beat it out. Rehabilitation Of Returning Veteran Program Topic

Blue Stocking Club members are entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Cummer, with Miss Mabel Abbott assisting hostesses and Mrs. Robert Winger conducting the session and presenting a guest speaker, Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig, of State Hospital, who gave the club a very interesting talk on rehabilitation of returning veterans.

Dr. Rosenzweig treated the subject from the standpoint of the community and the individual, pointing out what we as civilians do and what the returning veterans will expect. War conditions, he said, have made impermissible changes in homes and people. We have changed as they have changed and there must be a period of unhurried adjustment. He explained that the veterans will expect stability from us; improved living conditions; improved educational opportunities; to meet their own spiritual growth; social equality, since they have learned to work together regardless of creed or color; improved economic conditions, with a man's job in a man's world. This war is being fought, he continued, for a certain growth, and the returning veteran will demand these changes in the nation and individual alike. In conclusion, the speaker distributed several helpful pamphlets and, to close the program, Mrs. Brackett read a poem on the same topic by Bonarro Overstreet.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. George Calderwood and Miss Ethel Morris presiding at a pretty tea table.

The next club meeting is April 4 at the home of Mrs. Edward Walker, with Mrs. W. R. Carlin assisting.

Warren Indies, St. Marys Win In Invitational Tournament To Enter Semi-Finals Thursday

The second annual YMCA Invitational Tournament was reduced to just four competitors last night as the Warren Indies turned on the pressure in the final stanza to down the local Sylvanians, 54-44, and St. Marys succeeded in eliminating the Jamestown Vikings by a 35-30 count. The four remaining contenders invade the semi-finals on Thursday night, with the two winners vying for the crown on Friday night.

Tomorrow night, the Bradford YMCA quint tangles with Jamestown's Fashion Clothes outfit at 7:30, with St. Marys Moose and the Warren Indies following up at 8:30.

The Indies, a towering bunch of high schoolers, found excessive trouble in winning a decision over the Warren Sylvanians. The Indies trailed the entire first half, but smashed back in the last two periods to eke out a 10-point win. George Lucia, ex-high school player, paced the Green and White as they moved ahead in the opening quarter to hold a 13-7 margin at the ending of the stanza. Lucia dropped in a game of 21, followed by Billy Massa with 14, to pace the Sylvanians.

The Indies gained momentum in the second period to outscore Sylvania and reduce their lead at halftime to 25-21. Foot 4 inch Jack Eaton paved the way for the Indies' advance as he chalked up a grand total of 25 points, and the schoolboys moved ahead at the third quarter mark 34-30.

Allentown and Donora Move Into Finals

Old Timers should seek out a dark corner in which to lament their sorrows after having read this one Private first class Gale Bishop, stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, showed some 3,000 A. A. U. basketball fans last night just why he is the top scorer of the nation's service teams. Playing against Hoxie, Kansas, in the second round of the servicemen's tourney, Bishop threw 25 goals through the hoop, along with six foul points, to chalk up a grand total of 62 points. Also a new A. A. U. tournament record. Not bad, how about it, old timers?

Howard Cann, the cage and diamond mentor at New York University, took advantage of the first warm day last week to take a walk, just to get in shape for baseball. Who did he see but two of his court stars, Al Grenert and Frank Manglapan, also enjoying spring, but on the diamond, working out. They're back indoors for the remainder of the N. C. A. A. tourney.

Here and There: Jay Pees, of the Department of Forests and Waters, is heading up the get-together of the section's fire wardens to be held at Pittsburgh Thursday night. There seems to be a lot of changes in athletic setups all over the nation, not only in college, but in high schools, too. Greenville has lost the services of two of their heads, and other losses are in sight. Ned Irish estimates that not more than 18 or 20 basketballs were used for Madison Square Garden games, and that there are at least a half dozen still usable.

Philly's Convention Hall started with six and has five left. Only three of the National League's 13 umpires ever played major league baseball, and four of the best never played professionally. Johnny Parker, Taunton, Massachusetts, Gazette: "Who said the circus sideshow is dead? With the possible exception of the Siamese twins and Jo Jo the dog face boy, it looks like major league baseball in 1945 will have everything else." You're sort of poking fun at a wide range of people, aren't you, Mr. Parker? At least, a lot of them have the will to try, anyway, even if some are disabled. When the High School basketball team gets into action again next season, look for big Jack Eaton as the outfit's sparkplug. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, says that anyone who has gone through surgical wards has seen plenty to convince him that he hasn't a right to ever beef about anything.

Attention, Mr. Angler. Yesterday, there were 600 brook trout put in the Hemlock; today there were 600 brook stocked in Brown Run, 400 in the northwestern branch of Spring Creek, 900 in the Tidoute, 500 in Rock Hollow, and numerous other streams.

South African Kaffirs gather caterpillars, crush their heads, dry them in the sun, and then pack them for future use as food.

Wood shavings, not sawdust, is the material used to cover circus arenas.

To slendelize and at the same time give warmth to your face, lightly rouge ear lobes.

Harrisburg, March 21—(P)—Four surviving Class B basketball teams play tonight in the semi-final round of the first statewide tournament ever held for these little schools with the winners moving into the state final on Friday at either Villanova or Allentown.

Springfield, District One titleholder, with the speedy "Bud" Wright sparking the attack, meets McAdoo, District Two champion, at the Allentown High School's Little Palestra, with the eastern championship at stake.

Conneautville, District Ten's "dark horse" contender for the state crown, opposes Gallitzin, District Six champion, at Farrell, with the western title going to the winner.

The Springfield-McAdoo clash will bring together two of the best forwards in small school ranks as Wright vies for supremacy with Mickey Felock, ace of the coal region quintet.

The class A tournament reached the finals last night at Allentown and Donora swept to victory over the two "dark horse" survivors in the semi-finals.

Allentown turned back the Radnor "Whiz Kids" by a 38-31 margin, stepping out in a fourth period rush.

Donora continued to show remarkable power by crushing Sharpville, 45-20 and now the Dragons move into the state finals at Philadelphia Convention Hall seeking revenge for District Seven against the Canaries who won their last state crown in 1935 at the expense of Rankin, of Pittsburgh.

Struthers, Forge Girls Open Playoffs

The YWCA Girls' league play-offs get under way tonight at 7:30, with the National Forge aggregation tangle with Struthers Wells fens. The winner will be decided in a two-out-of-three game series. The second half winners are favored over the Forge sextet, which has lost some of its spectacular mid-season spark. Moll is expected to pace the Struthers attack, opposed by Oneida Sheffer of the Irvine force.

The next playoff match is slated for Friday night at 7:30, and if necessary, a third and deciding game will be played Monday.

THERMAL LINING
New lining for flying suits and evacuation blankets has been developed using warm, soft thermal cloth. Made of hundreds of pile tufts woven on each side of cotton warp, the new lining produces one of the warmest and most comfortable of flying garments and as an added advantage does not harden in high altitudes as does the natural sheep's wool product.

Sewell and "Blooper" Pitch With Pirates; Durocher Gets $1,000 Bonus to Play Second

By TED MEIR

New York, March 21—(P)—Truett "Rip" Sewell and his famous "blooper" pitch will be back with the Pittsburgh Pirates as usual this year. The veteran righthander, who won 21 games last season, signed his contract yesterday.

The Pirates' pitching problems thus diminished. Max Butcher, their 13-game winner in 1944, helped the situation by reporting to the Muncie, Ind., camp.

Elsewhere on the baseball training front: Brooklyn—Manager Leo Durocher took the offer of President Branch Rickey that he would pay a bonus of $1,000 if Leo would play second base for the first 15 games of the season.

Chicago Cubs—Bob Chipman, No. 1 southpaw, checked into camp last night, saying he's in "pretty good" condition.

Detroit—total of 21 players now in camp. Notable absentees include First Baseman Rudy York, Third Baseman Pinky Higgins, Pitcher Buff Gentry and Outfielders Jimmy Outlaw and Don Ross.

Cleveland—Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh expected at camp to discuss holdouts Mickey Rocco, Jeff Heath and Roy Cullenbine.

Chicago White Sox—Bill Nagel, back in majors for third time, probably will be shifted from third to first base.

and Charley Sproull and Catcher Andy Seminick signed.
St. Louis Browns—Pitchers Tex Shirley and Al Hollingsworth bore down hard in batting practice.
Boston Braves—Johnny Hutchings, 260-pound pitcher, hit home run in practice, but fell exhausted as he rounded third. Teammates rushed over, grabbed him by arms and legs and dragged him over home plate.

Boston Red Sox—Outfielder Johnny Lazor, who also can catch, came to terms.

New York Giants—A three-game exhibition series was arranged with Bainbridge (Md.) naval team for this weekend. The navy base will provide transportation.

New York Yankees—Hank Borowy, last year's 17-game winner, signed contract.

Washington—Mickey Haefner joined club.

St. Louis Cards—Lost Outfielder Danny Litwiler of Ringtown, Pa., who was inducted into army for limited service.

Philadelphia Athletics—Jim Pruet, slugging catcher, said he worked off excess fat because he didn't like to see a 208-pounder staring back at him in the mirrors.

New combs are decorated with colored feathers made to look like tropical butterflies.

At the pace Patton's tanks were travelling, it was reasonable to expect that the vanguards would reach the Ludwigschafen-Mannheim area before dusk. The twin cities on the Rhine have a combined population of 427,000. Ludwigschafen, 143,000, is on the west bank and Mannheim is on the east.

Other great German cities were either in or almost within artillery range. Frankfurt (546,649) was 18 miles away; Weisbaden (172,059) is four miles across the Rhine from Mainz. Speyer (25,000), capital of the palatinate, was 15 miles from the Third army.

The Seventh Army was in the steel mill town of Voelklingen (31,000) and both armies were investing Neunkirchen (45,500). Kaiserslautern (190,000) was seven miles or so across the Rhine from French units of the Seventh army—the groupement Montabert composed of the Algerian Goumiers and the Fifth French Armored Division.

At Mainz, Patton was 265 miles from Berlin and 93 miles inside Germany and controlling more Reich real estate than any other western front general. The 90th Division of Texans and Oklahomans reached that historic city yesterday. Third army censors held up news of the battles in that birthplace of Gutenberg, inventor of printing. Mainz had been one of the strongest fortress positions on the Rhine.

The Germans were left with only a 43-mile stretch west of the upper Rhine between Lauterbourg and the Ludwigschafen area. All the middle Rhine west bank and 24 miles of its east bank were in American hands.

Stanley Isaacs, Republican-Independent, accused the doughty little mayor of "indifference lawlessness" and James A. Phillips, Democrat, said the mayor was "not only violating the law and making fools of his council, but is also sabotaging the war effort."

Although the order was issued to all service commands, it obviously was aimed at New York City, where Mayor La Guardia has authorized the 1 a. m. closing. Officials at naval shore patrol headquarters here said no similar order had been issued by the Navy.

President Roosevelt indicated at a press conference yesterday in Washington that he favored continuation of the midnight curfew, but he said he hadn't considered taking any steps to bring New York City back in line. "What could I do?" he asked reporters.

Meanwhile, the verbal lacing being administered to Mayor La Guardia by various of his colleagues continued unabated. In the city council yesterday he was called a dictator, "a law violator and a man who 'has put the city of New York to shame and ridicule.'"

Early History Is Recalled In PTA Meet

"The Early History of North Warren", program for the PTA meeting held Monday evening in the North Warren school, proved to be enjoyably humorous as well as deeply interesting and instructive to the unusually large number who attended.

Chris Pepke, chairman of the evening's program, interviewed very informally four of the older residents of the town: "Grandma" Rickerson, Miss Carrie E. Olsen, George Kidder and Wess Owens. Interesting facts dealing with all phases of life in "the good old days" were discussed by these people who had, in most instances, been there and could give eye-witness accounts of what today is early history.

The days of the lumber mills, when rafts were sent down the creek to the river and thence on to Pittsburgh; the days of the oil boom; introduction of the railroad and the street cars; many different business enterprises, the hotels, the older homes—long since torn down and rebuilt—the building of the State Hospital, were only some of the many events mentioned. It seemed truly remarkable the many dates that were given without hesitation.

"Grandma" Rickerson, who is celebrating her 91st birthday today, was surprised by the entire group's singing "Happy Birthday". Miss Olsen read an account from the minutes of a literary society which held regular meetings in 1886 to 1888. Mr. Kidder had a wealth of information to impart of days of his youth, and Mr. Owens read a most interesting account prepared from a diary which he had kept for many, many years.

A medley of old time songs was played by Doris Benze and Georgia Pepke, violinists, accompanied by Elizabeth Dalrymple, pianist. To conclude, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by sixth grade mothers.

Sugar Grove Girl Reports For Duty As Wac Today

Reporting for active duty with the WAC today is Miss Ina Belle Phillips, who recently was the first woman to receive the WAC oath in formal ceremony in Corry.

She will report to the Pittsburgh headquarters of the WAC there to meet other women reporting for duty. From Pittsburgh she will proceed to Fort Des Moines, Iowa, to enter basic training, the first step on her career as a Blue Angel. Following six weeks of basic training, she will be enrolled in an enlisted technicians' school for Wacs, and subsequently she will be assigned to O'Reilly General Hospital, Springfield, Missouri. The transfer to O'Reilly will be in accord with her expressed desire and in accord with the WAC policy of allowing an enlistee to select her hospital of initial assignment.

Miss Phillips is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aleson James Phillips, of Sugar Grove. Mr. Phillips is a school bus driver and farmer. Her brother, Lincoln James Phillips, resides in Sugar Grove, as do two sisters, Betty and Ruth.

Another sister, Mrs. Maxwell Devoreaux, lives at 322 East Smith St., Corry.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

That gallavanti' island up above the Glade Run bridge has caused folks to break into song, prose and what have you, and some of the communications are quite interesting. One well known bird signs himself "Old Whiffletree" suggests "Why don't you enter the tree at the Glade Run island in a contest with 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' and get Warren on the map?"

Frank Tuttle, 26 Hemlock street, got an attack of spring fever and springs the following:

"A BAD DREAM"

I had a dream the other night, I dreamed of going fishing. The island I was going to, To my surprise, was missing.

Now I have watched that island For over thirty years, And when I found it missing, My eyes were filled with tears.

"The Better Side"

When I got up next morning, From having such a dream, I looked out my bedroom window, And this is what I seen:

The island it was over there And also all the wells, Those wells they are all pumping, As the jack goes up and down.

Each well has two hundred feet of casing, That's what was told to me, And sixty feet of drive pipe, Now it's very plain to see, That ought to hold the island, And save our blessed tree.

We all know the bridge was widened, And they also built a walk, And I think that is the reason We are hearing so much talk.

We all have a right to our opinion, In the land of liberty, But the island is not moving, That's the way it looks to me.

Come up and look things over.

And another bird indulges in irony, sarcasm and Aesop's Fables, or what have you, thusly:

startling. I refer to the gradual shrinking of the block between Liberty and Market streets on Third avenue.

I first became aware of this change shortly after the repeal of the Prohibition Amendment as I was walking home one night in an easterly direction on Third avenue. I suddenly realized that I was crossing Market street after having crossed Liberty street only a moment before. Retracing my steps I observed that the block indeed seemed shorter than usual.

During subsequent years I devised various methods of checking the accuracy of this impression, since, as you can imagine, I was reluctant to discuss my observation with friends. Sure enough, these tests indicated a definite, if slow, shrinkage in the length of the block. There was, for example, the obvious difficulty Mr. H. P. Stone was having in backing his car out of his driveway. Apparently his daily routine in this respect brought him into such close contact with the situation that he was unaware of the gradual change. To the objective observer, however, it was apparent that the space between Mr. Stone's house and the adjoining property was getting smaller.

I next took to counting the number of steps it required to traverse the distance. In 1934 when I began this practice, it took me 324 paces and as of March 13, 1945, the distance can be travelled in 303 paces.

As a final check I have just consulted officials of the Bell Telephone Company. My impression was that in my boyhood days there were five telephone poles located in this block, whereas, as you may determine to your own satisfaction by personal inspection, there are now only four telephone poles. I was gratified to learn from the telephone company officials that my count is correct. There are definitely only four poles in the block at this time and this number is said to be quite sufficient for the present length of the block.

This confirmation of my impression has persuaded me to bring my findings to public light. The implications of the situation are serious. If the block continues to shrink it will be only a decade or so before Geracimos Restaurant will be located square in the middle of the Public Library. The noise and confusion attendant upon this juxtaposition will seriously interfere with the reading habits of myself and many another follower of your excellent paper.

Appealing to you for action, I remain,

Worried Taxpayer.

The Ills of Spring

By Mullen Drug Co.

There was a sage of old who warned against the "Ides of March." These were supposed to be fateful days, to be lived through with great care and side stepping of all possible dangers.

Spring still brings certain subtle dangers to health. Winter has left certain hazards. Heavy clothing, hearty diets, over-heated living and working quarters, all must be accounted for as the first warm days appear. The readjustment is not always simple.

Act in time and avoid that listless state of mind and body which you have been wont to ascribe to "spring fever." Get the doctor's advice, see that your system is ready for changing temperatures.

You may need a tonic. If so, let the doctor prescribe it, let a respected druggist fulfill the written order.

Warren Autobody Repair Co. Will Add 50% To Its Building

With the WPB giving the green light construction work will be started by Farnsworth and Cook within a few days on the construction of an addition to the Autobody Repair plant, Pennsylvania avenue, east and Park street. The addition will enlarge the plant to twice its present size and will afford much needed room to care for the ever increasing amount of work handled. The announcement comes simultaneously with the 15th anniversary of the opening of the business here by George Horsfield.

The addition will be built of cinder block which will be covered with stucco to conform in appearance with the plant occupied at present. Concrete floors will be laid and the plant made as near fire proof as it is possible to make it. Every effort will be made to get the building completed as soon as possible as the WPB recognizes the essential need of plants to keep transportation at as near a peak as possible.

Mr. Horsfield plans for the installation of some of the most modern machinery in the new addition that it is possible to purchase. Most of this machinery has been ordered and is ready for delivery as soon as the new structure is completed to receive it.

One of the outstanding pieces of machinery to be put in place will be a Bee Line Super Model chassis aligner which will take care of the largest piece of motor equipment that is legal in Pennsylvania. Buses, trailer trucks, and passenger cars will all be given attention on this machine.

Forty-four feet in length it will be erected with a pit under its entire length so that workmen may stand and work under the machines. A huge complement of tools accompanies the machine which will be used for checking trailers front and rear end inspections, rear housing corrections, frame inspections, etc. Alignment of frames etc., will be done with the machine and it will generate tons of pressure in the straightening necessary. One hundred tons pressure can be exerted. On another smaller but similar machine now in the plant 40 tons pressure is given.

Another machine that is now in position and in use as often as possible is a modern wheel straightener which now allows wheels to be salvaged that in many instances were thrown away. Hubs and drums of the wheels can all be cared for in an economical manner. Another machine will balance the wheels and motorists who keep wheels balanced and aligned will find their tire worries are largely over.

Mr. Horsfield by straightforward methods has built up a large clientele and his plant is not to be equalled in any town of this section for equipment and work turned out. Constantly adding new machinery and keeping abreast with the times has allowed him to mark his 15th anniversary in Warren with a reputation for good work which affords a keen outlook for the future.

Recent studies made by government health authorities reveal that the microbes which transmit human disease indoors are most numerous near floors . . . proving the need for effective sanitation. The simple, efficient way to make floors sanitary is to use Clorox in routine cleansing.

Cars In Crash At Intersection Last Evening

Failure to observe a "Stop" sign at the intersection of Third avenue and East street last night damaged three cars and resulted in slight injury of Mrs. A. J. Washburn, of North Warren. The crash took place when a car driven by John Bohren, U. S. N., of 129 Highland avenue, Youngsville ran through the "Stop" sign at East street and slammed into a car driven by A. J. Washburn, 23 Park street, North Warren. The impact caused the Washburn car to crash blade, 1906 Pennsylvania avenue, east. All three cars sustained some damage.

Police were called and their investigation showed that Bohren was going north on East street and Washburn was driving west on Third avenue. The Sandblade car was parked about 60 feet from the intersection on the north side of Third avenue.

Mrs. Washburn was taken to the office of a physician and given treatment for a cut on her nose. She also suffered considerably from shock.

Bogren was operating a car owned by John E. Weaver, 105 Poplar street, Youngsville. Weaver carried insurance as did Washburn.

Arrests will follow if damages are not taken care of soon.

Men and Women In the Service

Further News Is Learned Of Pvt. Sullivan

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, 906 Pennsylvania avenue, west, have received several communications concerning their son, Pvt. Joseph Sullivan, who died December 17 of wounds received in the Philippines. They have received the Purple Heart awarded for those wounds and have a personal letter of sympathy from General Douglas MacArthur.

This message states: "My deepest sympathy goes to you in the death of your son, Private Joseph I. Sullivan. His service to his country was characteristic by his devotion to his duty, and in his death we have lost a gallant comrade-at-arms. Very faithfully, (Signed) Douglas MacArthur."

Capt. John D. Sharp, Jr., commanding the 307th Infantry, has written them twice recently, his last communication revealing that Pvt. "Jiggs" was buried in a U. S. Army cemetery near Valencia, Island of Leyte, in the Philippines, "a beautiful spot, excellently cared for, where further burial services were conducted."

In his previous letter to the Sullivans, Capt. Sharp wrote: "Your son, Joseph, died December 17, 1944, of wounds received in action on the Island of Leyte, P. I."

"Joseph had been a member of this company since August, 1943. Since that time he had become a great favorite because of his willingness, ability, and courage. His handling of his weapon and calm, cool efficiency was superior."

"He was a leading scout in the action that cost him his life. In this engagement he drove around the enemy's flank, killed several of the enemy, routed a machine gun nest, and was assisting in knocking out another when mortally wounded. He truly added glory to the already popular name of Sullivan."

"At all times he lived a good Christian life and no matter how tired or busy, he always managed to attend church regularly. That fact is, we feel sure, a great comfort to you at this time. We realize your great loss and share it with you."

"Honest, courteous, courageous, all of this and more is inadequate to describe your son. A good Christian, a true friend, an excellent soldier—Joseph I. Sullivan will long stand out in our minds as the characterization of the best of the American soldier who is more than willing to give his all for his country and his fellow men."

"We are proud to have suffered with your son."

Commander Has a Tribute For Officer

Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific area, has written a most interesting letter to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson, of Ludlow, concerning their son, Lt. Ward W. Anderson, who is a brother of Mrs. Harry Eckman, West street, this city. The letter follows:

"Recently your son, First Lt. Ward W. Anderson, was decorated with the Air Medal. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you."

"He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the S. W. Pacific area from June 7, 1944, to September 9, 1944."

"Your son took part in sustained operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These flights included bombing missions against many installations, shipping and supply bases, and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre."

"Almost every hour of every day your son, and the sons of other American mothers, are doing just such things as that here in the S. W. Pacific."

"There is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and peace."

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Maud refused to live in the house any longer and announced that she would move to the garden house. She objected to the furtive manner in which Cynthia had gotten married. The next day, when Cynthia went to the office she was agitated. She merely looked troubled. Then he glanced around the room as if he expected to see someone behind the window blinds. "Where is—I'm afraid I didn't quite get the name when Maud told me. I was rather bowled over, you know."

THE children had always been allowed to have what they wanted but their wants had been simple enough. She hadn't time to shop for them, but now the bills were staggering. Then her mood softened. Perhaps Vera was just growing up. She thought of birthdays, a little hazy for a moment. Vera would be eighteen—no, nineteen on her next, in January. Nineteen. It was a chilling thought. After nineteen comes twenty and a girl is a woman.

She wrote checks for every one of the extravagant demands. The house bills alone were doubled, as if everyone had gone on a spending spree. But she would not complain even to herself.

Miss Lee announced discreetly, "Mr. Almon."

Ned was haggard under his smooth, well-fed and shaven facade. He had the look of a person who has just fallen down stairs and is gazing back at the object that trapped him.

Cynthia called his name putting out her hands for it was very evident that he was suffering, whether from frustrated love or the natural humiliation of the loser. She was ashamed all over again for her hard-to-explain silence.

"I telephoned to the house this morning," he said heavily. "Maud told me."

The silence was awkward while Cynthia imagined Maud as commentator. There it was again. She should have called Ned at once—last night—but she hadn't even thought of him.

"It was very sudden," she said meekly. "There wasn't much time to think about—other people. I hope you'll forgive me, Ned."

It was what she had said to Maud only now it was more ba-factory, impossible to project her petty demand, "May I speak to Mr. Winslow?" into the important routine of that human hive. She felt insignificant for nearly the first time in her life for here she didn't count and her business card was a scrap of paper.

CAREY was at home when she returned and not pleased at her absence.

"Where on earth have you been?" he demanded after a swift possessive kiss. "The office? But you didn't have to go down there in all this heat. You could have telephoned."

Cynthia opened her mouth and closed it again. It worried her even to remember the thousand and one details she had looked after in her swift transit with Miss Lee.

"Well?" He gave her a little shake.

"I could have but I didn't." She collapsed helplessly against him. That was the way he loved her to be. "Darling, it's wonderful to see you again. Let's not have these long separations."

"We won't." He was unexpectedly emphatic. "You'll have to quit this office business, Cynthia. I won't have you prowling around in all sorts of places when you ought to be here."

She pushed him off with the flat of her hands, looking into his face to see if she had heard aright.

"You're joking, Carey . . ." How queer that they had never talked of this before. Then she remembered that there had been such talk but it must have been over a misunderstanding, seeing it from different angles, each thinking that the other wouldn't interfere. Now she knew with sure insight that he had taken her abdication for granted. He hadn't the faintest notion of what it meant.

"I can't give up my business, Carey," she said gravely. "It's part of me. I saved it. Built it up. It's my children's inheritance—not real wealth but something that'll see them through until they can stand on their own feet. There's an income and we can use it all. We do use nearly all of it. I couldn't stop—if I wanted to."

THE EIFEL REGION

German fighting divisions pinned between the American First and Third Armies west of the Rhine find themselves trapped in the forested Eifel Hills, a long established vacation region of the Rhineland.

Few of the Eifel region's hills rise more than 2,000 feet, says the National Geographic Society, but they form a very rugged plateau over most of a big trapezoid with corners at Aachen, Trier, Koblenz, and Bonn.

Northern limit of the hills is represented by a road winding eastward from Aachen through Eschweiler, Duren, Zulpich and Euskirchen to the Rhine at the University city of Bonn, 15 miles upstream (southeast) from Cologne. North of this line are the rolling hills of the so-called Cologne plain. South of it, the confused Nazi units seeking an escape across the Rhine will find it difficult to make haste.

Ruins of castles and monasteries as well as resort buildings cap many of the Eifel hilltops. Villages dating back to Roman times nestle in deep valleys. Only in very recent years has the isolation of centuries been lessened by extending the limited road system. At the south, the steep slopes are clad with the vineyards that produce the grapes of famous Mosel wine.

A railroad runs along the Rhine's west bank all the way from Cologne to Koblenz—a distance of about 50 miles. A newly built four-lane military superhighway runs north from Bonn to Bruhl and Rindorf, turning east across the Rhine just south of Cologne.

TIRE OUTLOOK BAD

One of the Home Front developments the past few days was the announcement from Washington that OPA has slashed the April passenger tire quotas 37 per cent below this month's level.

That means that but few family cars may expect to have a new tire.

Too much rubber was burned up on the dry pavements of Warren and vicinity the past week, and it is doubtful if this grave news will slow down some of the wild drivers who insist upon racing over the highways despite rubber shortages and wartime speed restrictions.

A temporary War Production Board limit of five million tires quarterly, has been extended indefinitely. That's 600,000 below quarterly production last year, more than 12 million below prewar.

With more than two million American-made vehicles rolling overseas where shell fragments, rubble, bullets make short work of tires, military demands are increasing. An eighth of an inch of rubber burns off airplane tires every landing. Result—only 175 landings says WPB.

Sister agency OPA warns that unless families have tires recapped before casings are ruined, there won't be enough to maintain essential driving.

THE NEW COMMANDMENT

The heart of the Gospel is that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son." Calvary's cross tells more graphically than words the full meaning of that love.

Time and again Jesus expressed and revealed His love for mankind. In the closing hours of His earthly life He uttered this message to His followers: "A new commandment I give unto you. That ye love one another"—John 13:34. This was Christ's parting message. He wanted them to forever remember that all of the commandments were summed up in that great one of love and obedience. Not love of self, but love of others, as Jesus has loved us.

In order to discover the genuineness of love, it must be tested. The test God gives is practical and simple. He does not make "emotional consciousness" the test of love, but on the contrary says we are to love in deed. The real test of love is not the glow of love in our hearts, but the deeds of love in our lives. "He that keepeth my commandments, he it is that loveth me," Jesus said. To Peter and to us He says, "Do you love me? Then do something about it. Feed my sheep. Prove it in your life, in your acts."

But the climax of love is in what it will suffer. Just what expressed the love of Jesus Christ most perfectly? Is it His words as a teacher or His deeds of love and mercy? His tender compassion which brought tears to His eyes? No, it is not in these. The highest and deepest love of Jesus was expressed in dark Gethsemane, in the hall of torturous scourging, and on the cross where He suffered unto death. The picture of what He suffered for us. Thus, the greatest proof of love is in suffering.

If you would build not for time, but for eternity, then build in love, upon the foundation of Christ Jesus, which will stand the test of God's great day.

Rehabilitation Of Returning Veteran Program Topic

Blue Stocking Club members are entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Gamm, with Miss Mabel Abbott assisting hostesses and Mrs. Robert Winger conducting the business session and presenting a guest speaker, Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig, of State Hospital, who gave the club a very interesting talk on rehabilitation of returning veterans.

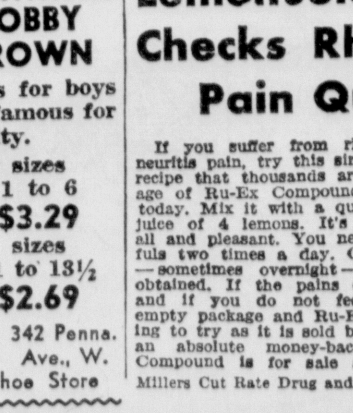

Dr. Rosenzweig treated the subject from the standpoint of the community and the individual, pointing out what we as civilians do and what the returning veterans will expect. War conditions have made imperceptible changes in homes and people. We have changed as they have changed and there must be a period of unhurried adjustment. He explained that the veterans will expect stability from us; improved living conditions; improved opportunities to meet their own spiritual growth; social quality, since they have learned to work together regardless of race or color; improved economic conditions, with a man's job in a man's world. This war is being fought, he continued, for a certain growth, and the returning veterans will demand these changes in the nation and individual alike. In conclusion, the speaker distributed several helpful pamphlets and, to close the program, Mrs. Brackett read a poem on the same theme by Bonaro Overstreet.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. George Caldwell and Mrs. Ethel Morris presiding at a pretty tea table. The next club meeting is April 1 at the home of Mrs. Edward Walker, with Mrs. W. R. Carlin assisting.

Ferrie and Spetz Thompson - Place Rites Solemnized In Scandia Church Vows Are Taken In Home At Kinzua

The church at Scandia was the scene of a pretty spring wedding at 3:30 Saturday, when Phyllis Elaine Spetz, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spetz, became the bride of Sgt. Pat Wayne Ferrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Heath Ferrie, Conewango avenue extension.

A 15-minute prelude of piano music was played by Mrs. Clarence Swanson and two selections, "O Promise Me" and "Because" were beautifully sung by Mrs. Foster Maze. The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. Kenneth Berlin, before an altar decorated with snapdragons and ferns.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and fingertip veil and carried white snapdragons, yellow roses and baby's breath. Elnora Anderson, maid of honor, wore light blue taffeta and carried pink snapdragons. The bridesmaids, Elnora, in pink taffeta and carrying yellow snapdragons, and Mary, in yellow taffeta with pink snapdragons. The bride's mother wore powder blue and Mrs. Ferrie wore navy, each with pink carnation corsages.

Pfc. Heath Ferrie, stationed at Fort Worth, Texas, air base, was his brother's best man and ushers were Gerald Rowley, Warren, and Arthur Dahlgren, Jamestown, N. Y.

A reception for 65 relatives and friends followed at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrell, 214 Orchard street, where guests included the following from out of town: Mrs. Catherine Ryberg, Mrs. Edward Seil and son, Douglas, Buffalo, N. He has been the recipient of the Silver Star Medal and has four bronze stars representing the African, Tunisian, Sicilian and Italian invasion and campaigns.

After a buffet luncheon, the couple left for a short trip. The bride's traveling suit of pale blue flannel with trim was simply cut. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Place and son, James Dale, of Bradford; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Larsen and daughters, Mary Elisabeth and Patricia Anne, of Warren; Miss Ruth I. Brooks, of Houghton College, Houghton, N. Y.

Warren Indies, St. Marys Win In Invitational Tournament To Enter Semi-Finals Thursday

The second annual YMCA Invitational Tournament was reduced to just four competitors last night as the Warren Indies turned on the pressure in the final stanza to down the local Sylvanians, 54-44, and St. Marys succeeded in eliminating the Jamestown Vikings by a 35-30 count. The four remaining contenders invade the mainline contenders Thursday night, with the two winners vying for the crown on Friday night.

Tomorrow night, the Bradford YMCA quilt team with Jamestown's Fashion Clothes outfit at 7:30, with St. Marys Moose and the Warren Indies following up at 8:30.

The Indies, a towering bunch of high schoolers, found excessive trouble in winning a decision over the Warren Sylvanians. The Indies trailed the entire first half, but smashed back in the last two periods to eke out a 10-point win.

George Lucia, ex-high school player, paced the Green and White as they moved ahead in the opening quarter to hold a 13-7 margin at the ending of the stanza. Lucia dropped in a game of 21, followed by Billy Massa with 14, to pace the Sylvanians.

The Indies gained momentum in the second period to outscore Sylvanians and reduce their lead at halftime to 25-21. 6 foot 4 inch Jack Eaton paved the way for the Indies' advance as he chalked up a grand total of 25 points, and the schoolboys moved ahead at the third quarter mark 34-30.

While trainer Doc Wendler of Brooklyn Dodgers kneads infielder Bill Hart's arm into shape at Bear Mountain, little Cookie Gerosa and Michael Martin eagerly await turn to have their "soup-bones" rubbed down.

Behind the Lines

Old Timers should seek out a dark corner in which to lament their sorrows after having read this one Private first class Gale Bishop, stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, showed some 3,000 A. A. U. basketball fans last night just why he is the top scorer of the nation's service teams. Playing against Hoxie, Kansas, in the second round of the servicemen's tourney, Bishop threw 28 goals through the hoop, along with six foul points, to chalk up a grand total of 62 points. Also a new A. A. U. tournament record. Not bad, how about it, old timers?

Howard Cann, the cage and diamond mentor at New York University, took advantage of the first warm day last week to take a walk, just to get in shape for baseball. Who did he see but two of his court stars, Al Grenet and Frank Mangiapane, also enjoying spring, but on the diamond, working out. They're back indoors for the remainder of the N. C. A. A. tourney.

Here and There: Jay Pees, of the Department of Forests and Waters, is heading up the get-together of the section's fire wardens to be held at Pittsburgh Thursday night. There seems to be a lot of changes in athletic setups all over the nation, not only in college, but in high schools, too. Greenville has lost the services of two of their heads, and other losses are in sight. Ned Irish estimates that not more than 18 or 20 basketballs were used for Madison Square Garden games, and that there are at least a half dozen still usable. Philly's Convention Hall started with six and has five left. Only three of the National League's 13 umpires ever played major league baseball, and four of the best never played professionally. Johnny Parker, Taunton, Massachusetts, Gazette: "Who said the circus side-show is dead? With the possible exception of the Siamese twins and Jo Jo the dog face boy, it looks like major league baseball in 1945 will have everything else." You're sort of poking fun at a wide range of people, aren't you, Mr. Parker? At least a lot of them have the will to try, anyway, even if some are disabled. When the High School basketball team gets into action again next season, look for big Jack Eaton as the outfit's sparkplug. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, says that anyone who has gone through surgical wards has seen plenty to convince him that he hasn't a right to ever beeb about anything.

Attention, Mr. Angler. Yesterday, there were 600 brook trout put in the Henlock; today there were 600 brook stocked in Brown Run, 400 in the northwestern branch of Spring Creek, 900 in the Tidoute, 500 in Rock Hollow, and numerous other streams.

Allentown and Donora Move Into Finals

Harrisburg, March 21—(P)—Four surviving Class B basketball teams play tonight in the semifinal round of the first statewide tournament ever held for these little schools with the winners moving into the state final on Friday at either Villanova or Allentown.

Springfield, District One titleholder, with the speedy "Bud" Wright sparking the attack, meets McAdoo, District Two champion, at the Allentown High School's Little Palestra, with the eastern championship at stake.

Conneautville, District Ten's "dark horse" contender for the state crown, opposes Gallitzin, District Six champion, at Farrell, with the western title going to the winner.

The Springfield-McAdoo clash will bring together two of the best forwards in small school ranks as Wright vies for supremacy with Mickey Felock, ace of the coal region quintet.

The class A tournament reached the finals last night as Allentown and Donora swept to victory over the two "dark horse" survivors in the semi-finals.

Allentown turned back the Radnor "Whiz Kids" by a 38-31 margin, stepping out in a fourth period rush.

Donora continued to show remarkable power by crushing Sharpville, 45-20 and now the Dragons move into the state finals at Philadelphia Convention Hall seeking revenge for District Seven against the Canaries who won their last state crown in 1935 at the expense of Rankin, of Pittsburgh.

The YWCA Girls' league playoffs get under way tonight at 7:30, with the National Forge aggregation tangle with Struthers Wells' fens. The winner will be decided in a two-out-of-three game series.

The second half winners are favored over the Forge sextet, which has lost some of its spectacular mid-season spark. Moll is expected to pace the Struthers attack, opposed by Onelda Sheffer of the Irvine force.

The next playoff match is slated for Friday night at 7:30, and if necessary, a third and deciding game will be played Monday.

THERMAL LINING
New lining for flying suits and evacuation blankets has been developed using warm, soft thermal cloth. Made of hundreds of pile tufts woven on each side of cotton warp, the new lining produces one of the warmest and most comfortable of flying garments and as an added advantage does not harden in high altitudes as does the natural sheep's wool product.

The automotive industry began 1945 with a production rate in excess of $10,000,000,000 annually.

Sewell and "Blooper" Pitch With Pirates; Durocher Gets $1,000 Bonus to Play Second

By TED MEIR

New York, March 21—(P)—Truett "Rip" Sewell and his famous "blooper" pitch will be back with the Pittsburgh Pirates as usual this year. The veteran right-hander, who won 21 games last season, signed his contract yesterday.

The Pirates' pitching problems thus diminished. Max Butcher, their 13-game winner in 1944, helped the team by reporting to the Muncie, Ind., camp.

Elsewhere on the baseball training front:

Brooklyn—Manager Leo Durocher took the offer of President Branch Rickey that he would pay a bonus of $1,000 if Leo would play second base for the first 15 games of the season.

Chicago Cubs—Bob Chipman, No. 1 southpaw, checked into camp last night, saying he's in "pretty good" condition.

Detroit—Total of 21 players now in camp. Notable absentees include First Baseman Rudy York, Third Baseman Pinky Higgins, Pitcher Ruff Gentry and Outfielders Johnny Outlaw and Don Ross.

Cleveland—Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh expected at camp to discuss holdouts Mickey Rocco, Jeff Heath and Roy Cullenbine.

Chicago White Sox—Bill Nagel, back in majors for third time, probably will be shifted from third to first base.

and Charley Sproull and Catcher Andy Seminlow signed.

St. Louis Browns—Pitchers Tex Shirley and Al Hollingsworth bore down hard in batting practice.

Boston Braves—Johnny Hutchings, 260-pound pitcher, hit home run in practice, but fell exhausted and he rounded third. Teammates rushed over, grabbed him by arms and legs and dragged him over home plate.

Boston Red Sox—Outfielder Johnny Lazor, who also can catch, came to terms.

New York Giants—A three-game exhibition series was arranged with Bainbridge (Md.) naval team for this weekend. The navy base will provide transportation.

New York Yankees—Hank Borowy, last year's 17-game winner, signed contract.

Washington—Mickey Haefner joined club.

St. Louis Cardinals—Lost Outfielder Danny Litwhiler of Ringtown, Pa., who was inducted into army for limited service.

Philadelphia Athletics—Jim Pruet, slugging catcher, said he worked off excess fat because he didn't like to see a 208-pounder staring back at him in the mirrors.

New combs are decorated with colored feathers made to look like tropical butterflies.

Early History Is Recalled In PTA Meet

"The Early History of North Warren", program for the PTA meeting held Monday evening in the North Warren school, proved to be enjoyably humorous as well as deeply interesting and instructive to the unusually large number who attended.

Chris Pepke, chairman of the evening's program, interviewed very informally four of the older residents of the town: "Grandma" Rickerson, Miss Carrie E. Olsen, George Kidder and Wess Owens.

Interesting facts dealing with all phases of life in "the good old days" were discussed by these people who had, in most instances, been there and could give eye-witness accounts of what today is early history.

The days of the lumber mills, when rafts were sent down the creek to the river and thence on to Pittsburgh; the days of the oil boom; introduction of the railroad and the street cars; many different business enterprises, the hotels, the older homes—long since torn down and rebuilt—the building of the State Hospital, were only some of the many events mentioned. It seemed truly remarkable the many dates that were given without hesitation.

"Grandma" Rickerson, who is celebrating her 91st birthday today, was surprised by the entire group's singing "Happy Birthday".

Miss Olsen read an account from the minutes of a literary society which held regular meetings in 1886 to 1888. Mr. Kidder had a wealth of information to impart of days of his youth, and Mr. Owens read a most interesting account prepared from a diary which he had kept for many, many years.

A medley of old time songs was played by Doris Benze and Georgia Pepke, violinists, accompanied by Elizabeth Dalrymple, pianist. To conclude, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by sixth grade mothers.

PSEA Council Meets In Erie

Several from Warren were in attendance at the dinner-conference held in Erie Saturday by the executive council of the North-western Section, Pennsylvania State Education Association. These included H. L. Blair, Viola Flowers, Millie Kopp, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hunter.

Dr. C. Herman Grose, president of the state group, urged members to continue their job of keeping members of the general assembly aware of their interest and expectations.

Why Skilled Workers use ThriftiCheck

"SURE, I'M PAID HIGH these days, and I work for it! But you can bet I'm mighty careful about carrying a wad of bills around—too many ways to lose it. It goes right into my ThriftiCheck account, which is just about as streamlined for my purpose as my lathe. I just carry a small amount of cash; the big money is in that ThriftiCheck book—where I can save some and pay home expenses, for a few cents a check, with my own name printed on each!"

Sugar Grove Girl Reports For Duty As Wac Today

Reporting for active duty with the WAC today is Miss Ina Belle Phillips, who recently was the first woman to receive the WAC oath in formal ceremony in Corry. She will report to the Pittsburgh headquarters of the WAC there to meet other women reporting for duty. From Pittsburgh she will proceed to Fort Des Moines, Iowa, to enter basic training, the first step on her career as a Blue Angel. Following six weeks of basic training, she will be enrolled in an enlisted technicians' school for Wacs, and subsequently she will be assigned to O'Reilly General Hospital, Springfield, Missouri. The transfer to O'Reilly will be in accord with her expressed desire and in accord with the WAC policy of allowing an enlistee to select her hospital of initial assignment.

Miss Phillips is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alston James Phillips, of Sugar Grove. Mr. Phillips is a school bus driver and farmer. Her brother, Lincoln James Phillips, resides in Sugar Grove, and two sisters, Betty and Ruth.

Another sister, Mrs. Maxwell Devoreaux, lives at 322 East Smith St., Corry.

Cpl. Don L. Phillips, her brother, is with the United Marines in the South Pacific.

Miss Phillips is a graduate of Sugar Grove Joint Vocational School. For more than two years she has been employed by the Aero Supply Manufacturing Co., Corry. She has done inspection, filing, typing and bookkeeping work.

Her hobbies are needlework and flying.

Wacs are needed by the thousands to serve in the Army's sixty general hospitals in this county. In the treatment and care of our Purple Hearts returned from the fields of battle. High ranking Army officers have called upon the WAC to fill the hospital needs, and the Medical Department will train all women who qualify under WAC standards. No previous experience is necessary. Women between the ages of 20 and 50 are eligible. Call upon the WAC recruiters now!

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

That gallavanti' island up above the Glade Run bridge has caused folks to break into song, prose and what have you, and some of the communications are quite interesting. One well known bird signs himself "Old Whiffletree" suggests "Why don't you enter the tree at the Glade Run island in a contest with 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' and get Warren on the map?"

Frank Tuttle, 26 Hemlock street, got an attack of spring fever and springs the following:

"A BAD DREAM"
I had a dream the other night, I dreamed of going fishing. The island I was going to. To my surprise, was missing.

Now I have watched that island for over thirty years. And when I found it missing. My eyes they filled with tears.

"The Better Side"
When I got up next morning, From having such a dream, I looked out my bedroom window, And this is what I seen:

The island it was over there And also all the wells. Those wells they are all pumping, As the jack goes up and down.

Each well has two hundred feet of casing, That's what was told to me, And sixty feet of drive pipe. Now it's very plain to see, That ought to hold the island, And save our blessed tree.

We all know the bridge was widened, And they also built a walk, And I think that is the reason We are hearing so much talk.

We all have a right to our opinion, In the land of liberty, But the island is not moving, That's the way it looks to me.

Come up and look things over.

And another bird indulges in irony, sarcasm and Aesop's Fables, or what have you, thusly:

Dear Sir: Your news items about the moving island above the Glade bridge have been interesting, but I wish to call attention to a phenomenon which in my opinion is much more startling. I refer to the gradual shrinking of the block between Liberty and Market streets on Third avenue.

I first became aware of this change shortly after the repeal of the Prohibition Amendment as I was walking home one night in an easterly direction on Third avenue. I suddenly realized that I was crossing Market street after having crossed Liberty street only a moment before. Retracing my steps I observed that the block indeed seemed shorter than usual.

During subsequent years I devised various methods of checking the accuracy of this impression, since, as you can imagine, I was reluctant to discuss my observation with friends. Sure enough, these tests indicated a definite, if slow, shrinkage in the length of the block. There was, for example, the obvious difficulty Mr. H. P. Stone was having in backing his car out of his driveway. Apparently his daily routine in this respect brought him into such close contact with the situation that he was unaware of the gradual change. To the objective observer, however, it was apparent that the space between Mr. Stone's house and the adjoining property was getting smaller.

I next took to counting the number of steps it required to traverse the distance. In 1934 when I began this practice, it took me 324 paces and as of March 13, 1945, the distance can be travelled in 303 paces.

As a final check I have just consulted officials of the Bell Telephone Company. My impression was that in my boyhood days there were five telephone poles located in this block, whereas, as you may determine to your own satisfaction by personal inspection, there are now only four telephone poles. I was gratified to learn from the telephone company officials that my count is correct. There are definitely only four poles in the block at this time and this number is said to be quite sufficient for the present length of the block.

This confirmation of my impression has persuaded me to bring my findings to public light. The implications of the situation are serious. If the block continues to shrink it will be only a decade or so before Geracimos Restaurant will be located square in the middle of the Public Library. The noise and confusion attendant upon this juxtaposition will seriously interfere with the reading habits of myself and many another follower of your excellent paper.

Appealing to you for action, I remain,

Worried Taxpayer.

ARE YOU A BEAR THREE DAYS A MONTH?

Why let "monthly grumps" make you miserable—and everyone about you? Maybe they are not necessary. Thousands of girls and women have discovered that functional periodic pains usually are greatly relieved when they take Chi-Ches-Ters Pills at the time their period is expected. Taken according to directions, preferably two or three days before your time, they tend to relax the muscular contractions that have been found to cause pain, cramps, headaches and nervousness at such periods. An added iron ingredient in Chi-Ches-Ters Pills helps to promote resistance and energy. Be sure to ask your druggist for Chi-Ches-Ters Pills, and accept no substitute. Caution: Use only as directed.

The Ills of Spring

By Mullen Drug Co.

There was a sage of old who warned against the Ides of March. These were supposed to be fateful days, to be lived through with great care and side stepping of all possible dangers.

Spring still brings certain subtle dangers to health. Winter has left certain hazards. Heavy clothing, hearty diets, over-heated living and working quarters, all must be accounted for as the first warm days appear. The readjustment is not always simple.

Act in time and avoid that listless state of mind and body which you have been wont to ascribe to "spring fever." Get the doctor's advice, see that your system is ready for changing temperatures.

You may need a tonic. If so, let the doctor prescribe it, let a respected druggist fulfill the written order.
